

They call me Zadie, and my associates here got a hot tip that there's some top-shelf tuna stashed in this fat cat's mansion. Use this blueprint to help us sniff out the goods!

Visit each room and complete the prompts. There are ten total activities to explore. Turn in this completed blueprint at any ImagineIF location to claim a prize!

Don't be a rat, now! We'll have to be thorough to land that reward!

STUDY

Patch, our ringleader, says this is a good place to start. Do you see anything shiny lyin' about?

Get a jump start on the upcoming school year. This could be assigned reading, regular reading, or you could just work on a difficult subject to prepare for the future.

LIBRARY

Attend a library program, check out and read a library book, or use an online library resource.

Keep a reading log throughout the summer. Notice how many books or pages you read. Did you read anything especially interesting?

CONSERVATORY

Incorporate a new health-related activity into your summer schedule. You could go for a walk every day, or get the recommended amount of sleep, or drink the recommended amount of water.

HALL

Get crafty! Create a masterpiece from natural materials. You could nature journal, make a collage from river rocks, use natural pigment to dye cloth, or press flowers.

Read a book from a genre you've never read before.

LOUNGE

Take a full day to rest. Afterwards, record what you've done. Did anything stand out as especially restful? How can you regularly incorporate that activity into your schedule?

DINING ROOM

This room is empty! No chairs, no paintings, no drapes, no priceless jewels!

Get involved in your community in a new way! You could mow your neighbor's yard for free, join or start a club, sign up for a free class, or volunteer.

KITCHEN

Janis says the pantry shelves are loot-less! We gotta wrap up this search quick!

Grow or forage your own food, or purchase from a community market, then cook a seasonal meal using those ingredients.

Sneaking on tiptoes, you see a glint coming from an open door. Could it be...?

Intentionally practice a maintenance skill for one week. Try gardening, garment mending, cleaning, cooking, or even home or car repair. Afterwards see if your maintenance skills have improved.

Teen Scene kits, found at every Imagine!F location, could be helpful in your maintenance skill pursuit.
